2017 -18 CORE VALUE: COMPASSION

When written in Chinese, the word "crisis"
is composed of two characters.

One represents danger
and the other represents opportunity.

WHAT IS THIS WOMAN DOING?

She is practicing one of the world's oldest technologies: flintknapping (i.e., stone-flaking), an artform that requires a knowledge of raw material, a bit of hand-eye coordination, and a lot of practice. If you'd like to learn about this and other ancient technologies (like cordage making, fire starting, and atlatl hunting), join us for a visit from Bob Berg. Bob has more than 25 years' experience teaching children and adults about the crafts and livelihoods of the ancient past.

SKALD 2018

Skald is the creative arts magazine featuring the creative works of our students. In the past we have solicited work throughout the regular academic year (August to May). Unfortunately that timeline has caused a number of problems for our student staff and advisors because they must work through early summer and then we miss important deadlines in national competitions.

This year we are holding onto some submissions that came in last spring for consideration and we will be calling for work NOW until December. A new policy of collecting SKALD artwork and literature in the future from spring & fall semesters should also help us bring out the magazine much earlier!

Dear Faculty and Students,

We are now accepting submissions for our 2018 SKALD publication through Friday, December 15, 2017.

Submission categories include:

Animation
Digital Film
Fashion Design
Fine Arts
Graphic Design
Interior Design
Literature
Music Lyrics
Photography
Poems & Short Stories
Essays & Critiques

There's NO LIMIT to the number of pieces you may enter. Two or three-dimensional works will be accepted and photographed (if selected), but digital images of your work on CD or online are preferred. All work, except digital submissions, must include a Submission Form, available outside ROOM 200, where you may also drop-off your entries.

Please include titles and the media or genre in which your work was created. All work must have been completed while you are a student at Villa.

For details on submitting digital work online visit:

Please submit all literary and written works directly to Joyce Kessel at: jkessel@villa.edu.

Best regards,
